Review :

Industrial products made in the Cordoba area of Argentina are the main topics in this museum, including, for example, motorcycles, airplanes, flying bombs and, of course, automobiles. It is most interesting, for example, to see the Ramblers and compare them with the much more elegant Torinos which evolved from them after being redesigned by Pininfarina. There are jeeps and Kaisers made by IKA (Industrias Kaiser Argentina), Rastrojero pickup trucks and a Graciela saloon. Some real rarities are included: the Autocar, low priced Argentine Automobile developed by Peron and the sports Justicialista coupés and convertibles which were named after Peron's Justicialista political party. Review :	The ground and first floors of the Automovil Club Argentino, in Buenos Aires, house an interesting collection of old cars. Thanks to the efforts of Ing. Rafael Sierra, this collection is constantly being enlarged with motor vehicles of note. The earliest car exhibited is an 1892 Daimler. Other veterans include a 1901 De Dion Bouton and a 1904 Darracq. Some notable racing models are well worth seeing, such as a 1949 Ferrari monoposto once driven by Fangio and a 1924 Hudson specially prepared for road racing. There is also a Braham BT36 used by Carlos Reutemann in 1971 European Formula 2 races. Among the rarities is the Argentine ?Yruam? saloon made in 1927-28. Motorcycles and jeeps used by the ACA patrols are also shown. ACT

Review :	This is the only museum in Brazil dedicated entirely to competition vehicles. Mr. Paulo A. Trevisan located many forgotten cars which he painstakingly restored. A large number of these automobiles are now housed in a special building in Passo Fundo. There are examples from the 20's up to the 21st Century. Trevisan's cars frequently compete in special events or do demonstration runs. Around 20 Formula cars, 7 American cars from the 30's and 40's specially prepared for road racing, 6 Prototypes made in Brazil in the 60's and 70's, 8 Brazilian Prototypes of the 90's, examples of Brazilian stock cars, DKW racers and pioneering racing Model T Fords from the 20's, form part of this fascinating collection. Review :	A wide variety of cars reflecting the personal taste of the owner of this collection form the core of this recently opened museum. For example, there are a large number of Ford Mustangs. But there are also other carefully restored cars, such as a beautiful Stutz Vertical Eight with a Lalique radiator cap mascot. Restoration work on several units continues and it is interesting to visit this area and see how painstakingly the cars are being recuperated. ACT

Review :	An exhibition of about 40 automobiles representing the great variety imported by Uruguay from 1900 onwards. The earliest European car shown is a rare Belgian Delin made in 1899. Given the great influence France had in this country in the early Twentieth Century, most of the pre-1920 cars are French, including Panhard & Levassor, Gregoire and Clement-Bayard. The earliest American car is a 1910 Hupmobile Runabout and there are several examples of Ford Model T and Model A, as well as rarer Americans. For example, a 1920 Stutz Phaeton and a 1939 Cadillac convertible. South American cars shown include a 1967 Uruguayan Rago and a 1970 Argentine Torino 380 coupe. The first rescue vehicle of this club, a model T pickup truck, is also shown. ACT
